

RED LINE IS THE CUT LINE

The diagram shows a rectangular page layout with a red border. A vertical red line runs down the center, with two arrows pointing outwards from the top towards the left and right edges. A horizontal blue line runs across the page, with two arrows pointing outwards from the center towards the left and right edges. A vertical green line is positioned to the right of the center, with an arrow pointing left towards it. Text labels are placed near these lines to explain their function.
